By act of the Tennessee Legislature, T. C. A. §36-4-106 (d) both husband and wife in this lawsuit are restrained from:

1. Transferring, assigning, borrowing against, concealing or in any way dissipating or disposing of, without the consent of the other party or an order of the Court, any marital property. (Expenditures from current income to maintain the marital standard of living and the usual and ordinary costs or operating a business are not restricted by this injunction. Each party shall maintain records of all expenditures, copies of which shall be available to the other party upon request).
2. Voluntarily canceling, modifying, terminating, assigning or allowing to lapse for nonpayments of premiums, any insurance policy, including but not limited to life, health, disability, homeowners, renters and automobile, where such insurance policy provides coverage to either of the parties or the children, or that names of either the parties or the children as beneficiaries without the consent of the other party or an order of the court.
3. Harassing, threatening, assaulting, or abusing the other and from making disparaging remarks about the other to or in the presence of any children of the parties or to either party's employer; and
4. Relocating any children of the parties outside the state of Tennessee, or more than 50 miles from the marital home, without the permission of the other party or an order of the court, except in the case of a removal based upon a well-founded fear of physical abuse against the fleeing parent or the child. In such cases, upon request of the non-relocating parent, the court will conduct such an expedited hearing, by phone conference if appropriate, to determine the reasonableness of the relocation and to make such other orders as appropriate.

The Restraining Order shall remain in effect until further order of the Court.

VIOLATION OF A RESTRAINING ORDER MAY RESULT IN A FINE UP TO $50.00 AND/OR UP TO TEN DAYS IN JAIL FOR EACH VIOLATION.
